Everybody at WPCS wishes Mrs. Frawley the best of health for many years to come and hopes she has taken with her to Tucson pleasant memories of happy days here at school from 1945-1957.

Foreword

Assuming that any person who has been at Whitney Point Central School would like to keep informed about its activities, the Maroon & Gold staff annually makes an attempt to keep a pictorial, as well as historical record of each year's events.

Mrs. Helen Frawley, WPCS Guidance Counselor for more than 10 years, is now making her home in Tucson, Arizona. Staff members wish to get her ON THE LINE to tell her all the things the students have been doing since she left.

Tony Farr, Senior Class President from Room 209 in Wilson Memorial Hospital likes to keep in touch with day to day events at his alma mater while he is convalescing from his auto accident of last summer.

For eighteen years students have been buying a Maroon & Gold to have a record of their school year. As another yearbook reaches the hands of its subscribers, the staff sincerely hopes that this year's ON THE LINE Maroon and Gold will be one more treasure to enhance their school memories.

Sup. Prin. C. E. Adams

Congratulations To The Class Of '58
 You've run the course, you're On The Line
 The future's yours, just make it fine.
 Stand steadfast, tall and always true
 To what is right and best to do.
 Don't work for self but work to serve,
 Fight corruption, keep your nerve.
 Contend with fraud, cross swords with greed,
 Deep rooted faith is what you need.
 Battle infamy, lust and hate,
 You are the one who makes your fate.
 I close with this, it is no jest,
 Have faith in God.....and Meet The Test!

Prin. Caryl E. Adams

Senior Play

But Willie comes from a fine family, and he's going places.

JUNIOR PROM

Quarantine, Heart-throbs, Headaches. Chuck Haines, amateur printer publishes handbills that attract a host of mental patients to consult Chuck's father. Meanwhile Hildy gets the measles and the house is quarantined. Doubly rough, for Hildy anyway, is that this happens to be prom night, and she and Queenie had worked so hard on the date angle. At last the quarantine is lifted and the house can be rid of the ex-pugilist and dizzy Miss Cholmundeley who, by now have fallen in love. They return to announce their engagement and-Mr. Haines comes down with the measles.

The Seniors chose to perform this highly entertaining three-act farce comedy on December 12th, 13th and 14th. Everyone liked the originality of the lines as well as the humor and congratulated Miss Muriel Mock, director, for such a well-chosen play. Credit goes to the 2 prompters Betty Darrow and Don Driscoll, and stage hands, Steve Morgart, Jim Rockwell, Robert Wilson, John Gurney and Gordon Boyce.

Really! You look utterly undignified.

I am completely contented.....
Just like a cow.

Jerome, the children!
It's all right.
We're married.

Come on, come on! Let's make a fight of it.

I'm a pugilist--
It's pretty rugged work.
Yeah, I hear bells. But
I know I ain't crazy.

Pump. Pump. Pump.

Are you worried? Does life seem futile to you? Do you want to lose your troubles?

Junior Prom

After reading over scores of plays, Miss Muriel Mock chose "Glamour Boy" for the Junior Class.

GLAMOUR BOY

"Glamour Boy," a 3 act comedy by Esther E. Olson, was presented by the Class of 1959 in the WPCS auditorium on April 9, 10 and 11. Mike Southard, as Chauncey, portrayed a little guy with a big imagination who won $1000 for writing an autobiography and indulged in some real, as well as fictitious, heroism. The whole cast provided some humorous entertainment for the large audience which was in attendance at all 3 performances.

Flash (Ed Lamb) shows Chauncey (Mike Southard) how to dive and swim, "Just take a spring, dive in, take good, long strokes---."

At rehearsal the 3 prompters, Roberta Foley, Louise Verry and Dan Ticknor worked over lines with Prin. Garfield (Ray Maselli) and J. C. Roberts (Leo Birmingham.)

Joe Ralston(NBC Announcer) interviews Chauncey to tell a Nationwide audience of the latter's daring rescue feat.

PUBLIC GOLF COURSE

WHITNEY POINT, N. Y.

Golf is everybody's game, men, women, boys, and girls can enjoy it. Participated in by people of all ages, it is called, "the game of a life time." Many communities do not have a golf course. Some have gone to a great deal of work and expense to provide one. We at Ford Hill have had the pleasure of building one of the finest. Your appreciation has been shown by your patronage.
